TOKIO, JAPAN, May 12.—[Special.]—The Czarovitch of Russia was set upon and seriously wounded this morning by a Japanese who suddenly attacked him with a sharp pointed sword. ## THE PRESIDENT IN THE WEST.

The Chief Magistrate Received With Great Enthusiasm This Morning.

DENVER, May 12.—[Special.]—President Harrison and party arrived this morning. They were received with great enthusiasm and reviewed a parade of the local Grand Army posts. They leave for Omaha at 6 o'clock and will stop for an hour at St. Louis. The presidential party have received an ovation at every stopping point along the line. The people of Colorado Springs turned out in force Monday evening to welcome the president, who arrived here at 6 o'clock. Mayor Sprague and a reception committee met the president at the station. Leaving the station in carriages the party were driven about the city for half an hour, part of the way under the escort of military and civic organizations and grand army men. Several hundred school children were collected at one point on the route, and to these the president gave a pretty speech, which was loudly cheered. During the drive Cheyenne mountain, where Helen Hunt Jackson is buried, and Pike's peak were pointed out to the president. "The route ended at the Antlers hotel.

The president visited Leadville in the morning. Here he was presented with a brick weighing eighty ounces, or nearly seven pounds, made of Leadville silver, 999 fine. It is an exact facsimile of the silver bricks as they come from the mines. The party spent an hour in Pueblo in the afternoon. The train arrived at 3:30 o'clock, and the president was met by Mayor Hamilton and a local reception committee and the Denver committee, headed by Gov. Routt, which reached Pueblo on its special train ten minutes prior to the arrival of the presidential party. After Mayor Hamilton had informally welcomed the president to Pueblo the party were escorted to carriages and driven around the town. The president made a speech.

IN HOT PURSUIT.

The Charleston Has Resumed Her Chase of the Itata.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The fact no longer is concealed, even in official naval circles, that the Itata, which is off on hot chase after the Chilean transport Itata, which left San Diego last Wednesday while under arrest, and carrying off the deputy United States marshal. The Itata, after leaving San Diego, took on board a consignment of mail, and was then which had been shipped from San Francisco on the schooner Robert and Minnie. The transfer of the latter's cargo is believed to have occurred off the San Clemente islands, northwest of San Diego harbor, and it is believed the Itata steamed south Friday night, and was seen by the Chilean cruiser Esmeralda, which is the southernmost point of the land in Lower California, awaiting supplies carried by the Itata. The sea run to that point is about 700 miles. The Itata being heavily loaded, and though reputed to be a fast craft, it is estimated she cannot exceed 6 to 8 knots, and the Charleston, which left San Pedro at 4 a. m. Monday, it is thought certainly can overtake her or reach San Lucas in advance of the transport. If not found there the Charleston will proceed direct to Anapim, which will be the first point at which any further intelligence can be received. Even though the cruiser Esmeralda is met as convoy of the Itata, it is understood that the orders to the Charleston are explicit on point of capture, and if the Itata is sighted the Charleston is to give her government a better understanding of the situation. Rudini would hardly recall the consul for intemperate language when he himself has set the example.

TURNER IN TROUBLE.

The Republican Candidate for Governor of Michigan Financially Embarrassed.

LANSING, Mich., May 12.—James M. Turner, republican candidate for governor in the last campaign, rated several times a millionaire, with mammoth manufacturing and farming interests in this city and elsewhere, and owning lumbering and railroad interests in the upper peninsula, has filed a bill of sale covering all of his personal property in favor of Henry F. Jay, C. H. Buhl and Stephen Baldwin, of Detroit, the Detroit national bank of Detroit and the Central Michigan and Inglish County savings bank of this city. The consideration is $110,000, and it is provided that Turner shall retain possession of the property for six months. No figures are given as to the value of his property, but those in a position to know declare if given time he will meet all obligations in full. Turner is himself reticent in regard to his embarrassment.

Message Bearing Swallows.

John Desbouvrie, who resides at Roubaix in France, has exhibited three swallow swallows that he has trained after the manner of carrier pigeons. The swallows were set free, each one marked with a colored ribbon, and they dispersed in all directions. In fifteen minutes later the first one returned, and perched on one of Desbouvrie's fingers; one after another the others came back in quick succession. Desbouvrie is of the opinion that swallows are far superior to pigeons for the carrier service in time of war. Their flight is higher and swifter, and they are more reliable, snarler and more easily fed.

They need not rest when flying long distances in order to partake of food, because they can do so on the wing. They are also trained with greater facility than pigeons. Desbouvrie has also succeeded in retaining a number of swallows during the winter in perfect liberty, and their migratory instincts did not carry them southward, so that even this obstacle would not interfere with the systematic training of swallows for the carrier service.

WARD NOT STOPPED.

No Formal Protest Against Driving Piles for G. G. Sutherland.

BIG CROWD WATCHES FOR TROUBLE.

None Comes, However, and the Foundation for the New Block Is Begun—How the River Obstruction Cases Now Stand.

There was a large crowd of idle spectators on Milwaukee street bridge at seven o'clock this morning, watching the workmen on board of D. C. Ward's pile driving scow, expecting that when the first blow was struck on a pile the men would be arrested. Slowly the engineer shoveled the coal under the steam boiler. A huge volume of black smoke floated from the smoke stack that just reached to the bridge roadway. The smoke floating with the wind into and around the stores on the opposite side of the bridge. Slowly the first pile was raised under the heavy iron hammer and secured in position. Everything was now in readiness. Captain Ward took off his "rough and ready" hat and surveyed, the crowd peering over the bridge railing above him.

"Is there any body up there to arrest me when the first blow is struck?" he remarked with an "I've-been-there-before" air.

No one answered, and no officer could be seen.

"Well," exclaimed the captain, "I wonder what's the matter. Here she goes."

There was a quick motion of the engine; "plunk!" went the heavy hammer, and the oak pile was sent a foot or more into the river bottom.

Ward straightened up to his full height, carefully surveyed the crowd again, and being convinced that no officer was present, armed with a warrant for his arrest, he gave the word to his men that all was ready, and the work of driving the pile foundation for the Sutherland block was commenced.

"What has become of the city pile driving cases?" inquired a reporter addressing Wm. Smith who is employed on the cases by the city.

"The Waukesha court convenes on May 26; probably the pile driving cases will not be reached for some days after, probably not until the equity cases of the term are taken up. I don't know just what we will do when the cases are called. Perhaps we will put in our evidence and then go to the jury."

Mr. Smith was asked if any steps had been taken to prevent Mr. Sutherland driving piles for his proposed new block? "Not that I know of. City Attorney Doe is the only one authorized to appear in such cases on the part of the city, unless others are authorized by the common council."

ENJOYED REV. EVAN'S LECTURE.

A Large and Delighted Audience Listened to His Happy Remarks.

An audience that were interested and delighted, listened to Rev. M. Evan's lecture on the "Sunny Side of Life," at the First M. E. church last evening. Rev. Evan handled his subject in a masterly manner that plainly indicated his range of thought and command of language.

The presentation of the two reverse sides, "The Sunny and the Shady," were clear and lucid, and drew from the hearers repeated expressions of approval. Sparkling wit, enjoyable humor and sound logic abounded in the lecture, and left an effect on the minds of the audience that will doubtless be beneficial and permanent.

Christ, although "The Man of Sorrows," was held forth as the model of happiness, cheerfulness and blessing to all, and all his time followers will reflect his character and follow his example; carrying joy and happiness wherever they go. The long-faced, groaning type of piety, is a burlesque on religion and a false representation of the true christian, who, of all men, dwells in life in continual sunshine. The First M. E. church society have reason to congratulate themselves in the possession of such superior excellence of talent as centers in their popular pastor, and doubtless feel highly honored by the continuance of his pastorate among them. His former lecture on temperance, given over a year ago, and the one last night, fully demonstrate his ability to meet the issues of the day, and to cope with any one in the lecture field.

The lecture was the third of the First M. E. lecture course. The third entertainment will be the concert by the Whitewater Ladies' Quartette, assisted by Mrs. J. B. Day. The date of the concert has not yet been arranged, but will not occur until after the Mills' meeting.

E. J. CHAPIN WILL LIVE.

Dr. Whiting Says He Is Growing Stronger Steadily.

E. J. Chapin's condition is unchanged to day. He is still unable to talk and lies in a stupor. All efforts to find where he came from have been unavailing. When given a sheet of paper and a pen in the morning he wrote his name, "E. J. Chapin," making the letters slowly and plainly. No sound has yet passed his lips since he first spoke great, dark heavy moustache, somewhat bronzed features, clear cut nose and full face. His eyes are dark blue. His hands are small and white with well kept nails. When brought to the hospital he was dressed in a cutaway coat, of dark material, black and brown stripes with vest of the same material. His trousers are lighter color than the rest of his attire. He wore a soft black hat. His handkerchief is apparently new, and is white with narrow stripes of blue and yellow. He wore Congress shoes and clean and apparently new underwear. He wears four false teeth in his upper jaw. His watch is an Elgin movement, has a gold filled case and the number of the movement is 2,636, 9,673. His pocket book is new but has had the lining on the cover cut out. His account book is an old one with several pages loose.

SCoured THE WOODS

A Hundred Men Searching for a Crazy Woman Near Turtle.

A SQUAD OF MILITIA IN SERVICE.

The Trail Thought To Lead North from Beloit Toward This City, but All Clues Lost in the Groves North of Turtle Station.

Rumors that Mrs. G. H. Wood, the woman who disappeared from her home at Roscoe, Illinois, six weeks ago, had been seen south of this city caused one hundred Beloit men, including a squad of militia to scour the woods in the town of Turtle, in search of her. Their efforts were unsuccessful, and it is feared that the poor demented creature has met a cruel death while alone, or has wandered far away. The woman was first seen by Mrs. Art Wood, near Turtle station. Mrs. Wood was working about the house and glancing up saw a woman looking into the room from the outside. Although startled by the sudden and unusual appearance, Mrs. Wood saw the face very plainly before it was withdrawn and disappeared. Immediately after she recalled the fact of the disappearance of Mrs. Wood, and being a relative and acquainted with that poor lady, she organized in the face at the window the features of the missing woman. Mrs. Wood was alone in the house, but in a moment or two she went to the door and called thinking that if the woman, whoever she was, if spoken to might make herself known, but there was no response.

When her husband came home she told him of the occurrence, and the authorities were notified. The woman was tracked several miles, she having been walking toward Janesville, but the track was lost, and the searchers were compelled to give up.

MR. BLAINE'S VIGOROUS ACTION.

The vigorous steps taken by Mr. Blaine to make impossible the carrying of supplies to the Chilian insurgents from the ports of the United States, reflects great credit upon this government.
It seems that the Itata had received some forty head of cattle, twenty-five head of sheep, 3,000 pounds of dressed meat and 800 tons of coal, during the darkness of the night, and that she expected to leave San Diego last evening to meet, somewhere near Catalina, a schooner which was expected to have a cargo of Remington rifles and ammunition.
The steamer was immediately seized by a United States deputy marshal, pursuant to an order from Secretary Blaine, and when rescued by force was at once made an object of pursuit by the United States ships of the Pacific station. Mr. Blaine has also notified the United States authorities at San Diego to seize all the other vessels serving the same purposes, if found within the three-mile limit. By this course the country has been kept clear from international entanglement and in an attitude to command the respect of the nations of the world.

The disastrous financial experience of the Argentine Republic may bring some benefit to the silver producing interest of the United States. It is reported that the Argentine government having found it impracticable to restore the currency of the country to the gold standard has determined to establish a silver basis. If this is the case, and it is altogether probable, it will very likely create a considerable additional demand for American silver.

Persons who like to draw odious comparisons insist that a base ball player usually gets better pay than a member of the legislature. So with the preacher, the scientist or expert head cook. All it shows is that the fellows who become skillful in any pursuit have the larger recompense. It is alleged that in the last Wisconsin legislature men who were expert in securing enactments to suit their ends did not go unrewarded.

The latest "explanation" of the Waukegan Home bill comes from Senator Vilas, and not more than three days have passed since Gov. Peck appeared with his last explanation of the bill and its relation to his veto message. The State Journal thinks that as the immortal Shakespeare would say, "Me thinks he protests too much."

In the emigration from Europe of late, it is alleged that the abandonment of wives and sweethearts has become so common as to be regarded as a serious matter by the governments which are looking for some way to check it. Those who abandon their families are not likely to be desirable citizens in any country, and Uncle Sam should join in the efforts of authorities across water.

American tin mills promise so well that the democrats have retired the tin bucket from politics. Reciprocity is above criticism in principles and results. The antagonisms of the democracy are now directed against the tariff upon South American monkeys, and the much-dreaded failure of the peanut crop.

The Universalist clergyman in Boston who resigned after 43 years' service as pastor of one church, was true to his faith and denominational indifference as to the hereafter when he informed a reporter that he had no plans for the future.

The Sentinel is rather harsh on Boss Wall's "anti-endowment" bill. It says that in the shanty that it represents the state at the World's Fair there may be room to hang up a copy of the law to show the tendency of Wisconsin legislation.

Milwaukee Sentinel.—Well, a party that would perpetrate the great crime of the democratic gerrymander would rob a church. And that is what the democrats have done by the passage of the Dodge law.

President Harrison has given neither friend or foe offense by his short, pointed and excellent addresses to the people on his tour, but he has greatly improved his chances for republican victory in 1892.

A deadly argument is being advocated against Mr. McKinley's candidacy for the presidency. It is that plumbers in free trade England get only half as much pay as in America.

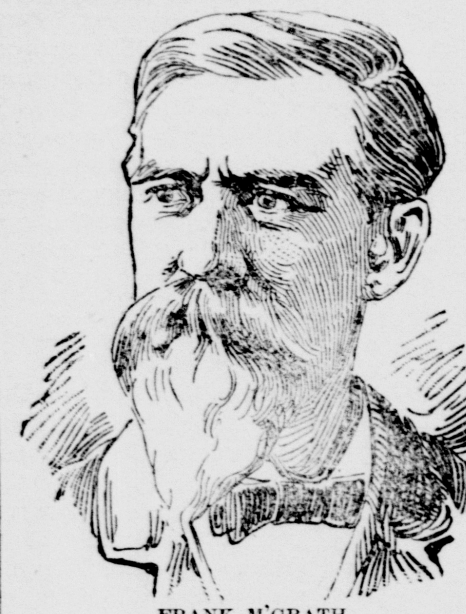

It Should Be In Every Home.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with Pneumonia after an attack of "La Grippe," when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung Trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottles at F. SOMEWELLKNOWNFACS.

President of the Farmers' Trust.

FRANK MCGRATH.

Frank McGrath, promoter of the trust recently organized by the Kansas Farmers' Alliance, is one of the shrewdest, most popular members of the Alliance in his state.

Washington's Pugnacity.
It is related of John Adams that when Stuart exhibited his portrait of Gen. Washington Mr. Adams went to see it. After gazing at it for several minutes he exclaimed, "That's the portrait of a man who knew how to hold his tongue, which this old fool never did!"

The portrait does indicate that the original could be reticent, but it also shows that he could control himself. The square, massive jaw, the full, broad based nose, and the compressed lips express pugnacity and passion, such as require a strong will to keep them in subjection.
Sometimes even Washington allowed his passion to have sway.
When Glover's Marblehead fisher men and Morgan's Virginia riflemen were engaged in a rough and tumble fight Washington leaped his horse over the bars of the camp fence, dashed among the rioters, threw himself off, seized two brawny riflemen by the throat, and shaking them at arm's length subdued not only them, but the whole band.

It was the victory due to commanding strength, presence and manner. The men saw that they must obey, and they obeyed.—Youth's Companion.

Wonderful, if True.

A Colorado rancher relates the following story, which, by the way, is a little bit too far fetched even to be implicitly believed by the editor, whose gullibility is notorious. The story is given for what it is worth: "As most people know, black wool brings from five to ten cents less per pound than the corresponding grade of white wool. In order to insure the separation of the inferior product, as our shearing operations progressed, we once placed the black sheep in a pen by themselves. There were sixty-three of the black sheep thus isolated in the corral on the night I speak of. Some time during the darkness a wolf, 'coyote,' as we call it, entered the pen and killed a ewe and two lambs. On the following morning we were greatly surprised to find that the wool on the remaining sixty had turned perfectly white from terror." It is reported that the author of this story is a church member in good standing.—St. Louis Republic.

The Small Boy's Revelation.

It is the small boy who usually tells things, and the dinner table is his favorite theatre. Not long ago a bright little fellow out on Peachtree street peered over into the dish at the head of the table and exclaimed:
"What a little chicken for so many people!"

The company smiled surreptitiously, and his mother endeavored to quiet him, but he was like Banquo's ghost. After they had all been helped and were eating his face suddenly lit up, and clapping his hands he shouted:
"Oh, yes; I know now, mamma. This is the little chicken that was sick so long in the yard, ain't it?"—Atlanta Constitution.

What Becomes of the Newsboys?

What becomes of the newsboys who swarm in the city? The man who knew the most about that subject was the late Charles L. Brice, of the Children's Aid society. Some of them, as they grow up, get places in stores and other business houses; some find employment as apprentices at trades; some strike out for themselves by leaving town to try their luck elsewhere; many die from hardship and exposure before reaching the age of 15; not a few take advantage of the privileges offered by the Children's Aid society and thus get along in life; some of them do quite well in the world. A large proportion are very smart boys.—New York Sun.

Why?

Mamma.—What are you crying for, Charlie?

But there are deeper hurts than those that honor feels. The seeds of disease are secretly and surely giving way to some deep seated malady. Especially among females are many sufferers from inflammation, ulcerations, prolapsus, and other displacements; weak back, sick headache, nervousness and kidney diseases. For all these affections peculiar to women no surer remedy than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, prepared for their special benefit, can be found. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee. From the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. LOVE ON A DEATH BOX.

A Chicago Driver Takes His Sweetheart Out Riding on a White Hearse.

Everybody on the West Side knows Barney Sullivan. He drives a hearse for a Madison street undertaker. He has led more funeral processions to Calvary in the past two years than any other driver in the city. About a year ago he took Maggie Dooly to see Joe Murphy in "Sham Blue," and she is talking about it to this day. Not long ago, however, Barney met the Widow McGraw, whose husband was killed last summer in the Burlington yards. His life was insured for $2,000. The widow put every dollar of it in bank, and it's drawing 6 per cent. She has an income of ten dollars a month from the interest and twenty dollars more from where she cooks. She is employed in the household of a Prairie avenue gentleman. It was at a wake that Barney became acquainted with the Widow McGraw. She was smitten with his red whiskers and winning ways. He escorted her home, and on the way they stopped at a restaurant and ate oysters, both raw and fried. Barney was invited to call, which he did, and on leaving he told the widow that it was the most enjoyable evening he had spent since he came to America. And it was arranged that they should go buggy riding Sunday afternoon if the day was fine.

Barney forgot all about engaging a rig until 10 o'clock in the morning. He went to several stables on the West Side, but could not hire a horse for love or money. The day was delightful, and everybody was out driving about the parks and along the boulevards. He telephoned to Leroy Payne's, and offered ten dollars for a rig for two hours, but he might just as well have offered ten cents. There wasn't a horse or buggy to be had in all Chicago. As a last resort he hitched up a team of cream colored horses to a white hearse and started for Prairie avenue.

The hearse rolled noiselessly along over the granite paved avenues, and Barney was in the height of his glory. In front of where the widow is employed he turned in so close that the wheels of the hearse scraped against the curbstone. People in the neighborhood went out on the front steps to inquire who was dead. Presently Barney and the widow came out of the house and mounted the driver's box. As the hearse rolled away peals of laughter split the air. They drove in impressive dignity down Drexel boulevard, and then turned the heads of the cream colored horses toward Jackson park.

Thousands of persons saw the strange vehicle circling around the park, but they didn't know what to make of it. Barney and the widow paid no attention to the caustic comments made upon them from time to time. They enjoyed the drive as well as they would have done in a landau; for on the way home it was all planned that the Widow McGraw will soon change her name to Sullivan.—Chicago Herald.

Worth of Good Breeding.

It is more to the point to say that it is important to keep the passages of the nose perfectly clear, to have the mouth well closed and mobile. The last thing before leaving privacy should always be a toilette de nez, clearing it of sniffling water of cologne and water, or spraying with the handy atomizer which has so many uses for the toilet besides wasting perfume.

There is no surer way of keeping the eyes bright than by keeping the nose clear and breath free. The compound stupidity of the stuffed head, the vermilion eyes and open jaw betoken not only physical but mental incompetence.
A youth or a man cannot have good sense if his nasal and breathing apparatus is out of order, and of necessity affecting his brain. Physicians find that the stupidity of many children at school vanishes with the cure of catarrh, that sure sequence of want of intelligent care in early years. The trouble removed, the lungs and breath working freely, the blood in body and brain aerated, the child seems to wake into new life, loses its loginess and grows bright and playful as the bright est of its mates. Boys in their teens and twenties often have a touch of catarrh from sleeping in stuffy, unventilated rooms.—Shirley Dare's Letter.

A Hint for a New Dress.

Now for a new dress. Pick up a bit of claret velvet and have some good dressmaker resolve it into a short round waist. There are among the winter "left overs" remnants of black silk, lined or checked with red, which can be bought cheap, and will make up beautifully. You, of course, will make up the skirt, and here is the way to do it: Put six widths in it, gathering the front and sides as little as possible, and lay the back in a fan or double box plait.

Cut a four-inch ruffle on the bias, double, not hem, the top, line it, and sew about the sides and front gores. As all the dresses drag, and all women must follow the fashion, look well to the facing of your skirt. Use for this purpose some excellent quality of cashmere or closely woven stuff. You will only need a little, and a good piece will save repairs. Buy, too, the best grade of braid. Rubber is not used for this purpose, nor is any extender or steel put in the lining. The drawings are depended on to hold back the fullness. Then, too, a girl must learn to walk so as not to throw her skirts from heel to heel.—New York World.

Dog Farming.

A correspondent asks: Where are the biggest dog rearing farms in the world? Dog farming is now carried on in China as systematically as sheep farming anywhere else. There are thousands of small dog and goat farms dotted over Manchuria and the eastern borders of Mongolia, where from a score to some hundreds of dogs are annually reared on each farm, and where they constitute a regular source of wealth. A bride, for instance, will receive as dowry a number of dogs proportionate to the means of her father. It is probable that in no other part of the world are there to be found such splendid dog skins for size, length of hair and quality, the extreme cold of these latitudes developing a magnificent coat. It is difficult to understand how the dog farmer can afford with profit to rear the animals when the price of the robe is taken into consideration. For one full sized robe, say 80 inches by 56 inches, at least eight animals are required. Putting the price realized at 14s. 6d. for a robe, this would allow only about 1s. 10d. per skin, including the selection (for the skins must match in color and length of hair) and cost of sewing. The animals are generally strangled in mid-winter, but not before they are eight months old, and then the skins taken in a frozen condition principally to Moukden and Chinchow, where they are cured, assorted and made into robes, mats, etc. The value of the trade from Newchang in 1887 was about £40,000, against nearly £50,000 the previous year. The decline was due to depreciation in value and a decreased demand from the United States.—London Tit-Bits.

Manners, Not Mannerism.

"Men's behavior," observes Bacon, "should be, like their dress, not too straight or point device, but free for exercise or motion." There can be no genial fellowship between affable, courteous people and your stiff backed formalists; while the intercourse of the latter with one another is necessarily dull and dreary to the last degree. They can no more enjoy society in their strait jackets of cold reserve than a wretch in the stocks could enjoy the hilarity of the crowd around him. Whoever desires to make friends should be cordial and conciliatory.

Nobody cares for automatic men and women who seem to go by clock work, and to want obliging at that. The error of utter unreserve should be avoided, too. It is less repulsive than its opposite, but it does infinitely more mischief. A man had better seal up his thoughts and feelings in his own breast than sputter them forth, in season and out of season, to everybody he meets. Such incontinency of speech is sure to make the person guilty of it unpopular, and to create general embarrassment and alarm in the circle in which he moves.—New York Ledger.

Beads.

Glass beads originated with the Egyptians. Some have been found with hieroglyphic inscriptions, showing the date to be about 1500 B. C. Glass beads and beagles for necklaces were used by the Egyptians and many other ancient nations. They were also used on cloth employed for mummy wrappings. They have been long used by eastern nations for devotional purposes, being worn by Christians, Tartars, Buddhists and Turks alike. The Chinese rosary is composed of 108 beads of corals, stones, etc., some of them being as large as a pigeon's egg.

They are mentioned by St. Augustine, A. D. 356, and by the Druids of the time of Caesar. Beads of copper have been found in all of the ancient burial mounds of northern Europe and Asia, as well as in the mounds of America. Gold beads have been discovered in some of the cliff dwellings of Arizona and Mexico. Whether these are earlier or later than those of Egypt it would be difficult to say.—St. Louis Republic.

Boots in England Nearly a Century Ago.

In the early years of the present century a number of members of the house of commons wore top boots. What contributed to break up the general use of top boots was the introduction of the Hessian boot as an article of walking dress. It was worn over tight pantaloons and was a handsome piece of attire. These in turn were superseded by the Wellington boot, which was introduced by the Iron Duke as being much more comfortable under the loose military trousers. This species of boot has been almost entirely abandoned in consequence of the universal use of the short ankle boots, but is still used by some classes in this country, who stuff the trousers loosely in at the top.—St. Louis Republic.

Forty-One Liquor Dealers Have Applied for License.

GENERAL GOSSIP OF THE TOWN.

Henry Blunk's Yellow Chariots in Brisk Demand—Steamboats Kept Busy and Owners Anticipate a Lively Season—Janesville Shows.

It is expected that all the liquor dealers engaged in the business the past year will comply with the demands of the council with the exception of Crane & Snyder, which firm will retire from business. There will be two, and perhaps three, new applications this year, so that there will be no falling off in the number of saloons. At least six licenses which were made conditional upon a two hundred license being granted, have been thrown up, however, and it is evident that the number in the business will be much less than would have been the case with the single license. It was reported to-day that a special meeting of the council would be called for Wednesday evening, for the purpose of taking action on the new applications, but the absence of several aldermen makes this improbable.

Seventeen thousand two hundred dollars is quite a sum of money, yet that sum is now in the hands of City Treasurer Murphy, being the license fees paid in by the saloon men. At ten o'clock this morning Mr. Murphy signed his eighty-second receipt, each receipt representing two hundred dollars. These excepting E. C. Johnson, Park House, Anton Behrendt, Union House, T. F. Johnson, Highland House, and Cal. Jones, Corn Exchange, were for the double license, and represent thirty-eight saloons. It is understood the four delinquents above mentioned will pay in the additional two hundred dollars rather than have their saloons closed, making a total of forty-one saloons in this city.

Of the license money received the county is entitled fifty dollars for each retail license granted. Should the council grant license to all applicants the county will get $2,150, and the city will have left $15,050. This money is divided between the general fund and the fire and water fund. $4,500 is placed in the fire and water fund for the purpose of paying the hydrant rental, and the balance goes to the general fund for paying expenses of the city government.

Funeral of Miss Belle Damon.

The remains of Miss Belle Damon were taken to Milwaukee for interment on the 9:45 o'clock train this morning, brief funeral services being held at the home of her sister, Mrs. John McCulloch, South Academy street, at 8:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. S. P. Wilder, of the Congregational church. The song service was rendered by quartet consisting of Mrs. A. O. Wilson, Miss Franc Edwards, W. S. Jeffris, Frank D. Jackson. Mr. and Mrs. John McCulloch accompanied the remains to their final resting place.

Steamboats Kept Busy.

The steamboats have made several trips up the river carrying many people to the old-time pleasure resorts. The temperature is a little too low for picnicking, yet many have made plans for their regular Sunday outings and picnics up the river. Should the weather turn warm by next Sunday, families will join the throng to spend the day in the woods. The steamboat men are putting their goods up the river in good order for the accommodation of families or large parties, anticipating a good summer resort business.

A Boom For Blunk's Chariots.

There is a noticeable increase in street car patronage from day to day, although there are as yet only three cars in service. Superintendent Blunk is expecting the arrival of additional cars, and hopes to be able to so arrange his time table that cars will be run every ten minutes either way on the line. He thinks the patronage will increase by so doing, as people will not then tire out waiting for a car. He is now getting the track in good condition, the only thing lacking to give the people first class accommodations being additional cars.

Fortnightly Club Meetings.

A moonlight ride up the river is one of the good things in store for members of the Fortnightly Club. Considerable change has been made in the club's programme as first laid out. The reading of "King Lear" has been postponed until Friday evening, May 29, and on May 22 the club will meet in social session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brownell and on Tuesday evening, June 3, the club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. George L. Carrington.

Railroad Men on a Picnic.

A number of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul officials have been putting in the last week fishing in Second Lake, near Stoughton. The party was composed of Division Superintendent F. S. Atkin, Yardmaster Vaneoy, of Chicago, Conductor E. L. Carrell, of the Council Bluffs division, and others. A portion of the party passed through Janesville this morning on their way home.

Were Married Nine Years.

Nine years ago last evening Joseph Loeb and Miss Amelia Terrell stood before the marriage altar. Last evening they celebrated the anniversary of that event in a fitting manner. Tuckwood's orchestra furnished excellent music, and with mirth, music, dancing and feasting the happy hours sped quickly away.

Will Listen For The Answer.

EDITOR GAZETTE—Why was it that our democratic city attorney flew all to pieces in his anxiety to arrest Ed. F. Carpenter and two other prominent republicans for pile driving in Rock river, and now rests easy in Madison while a leading democrat closes up the gap? We will listen between the blows of the pile driver hammer for an answer. A VICTIM.

DR. SCHIFFERSTEIN WILL SOAR.

His Air Ship Differs from Others as an Eagle Differs from a Hen.

Dr. L. J. Schifferstein, of Effingham, has invented a flying machine on which he is now experimenting. He says: "My theory of a flying machine is that of the inclined plane in combination with a propulsive force and a buoyancy chamber just enough to prevent injury to the machine in case of an accident when up in the air. To make the idea plainer, suppose you have the machine high up in the air; the inclined planes are then set so as to allow of a descent at a great angle, just a little short of a direct fall, say at an angle of 22 degs. from the perpendicular.

"Now, when the machine has acquired a great momentum the inclined planes are so altered that the machine will take a more or less horizontal motion or direction, and after a while again changed so as to make the machine take an upward direction. It is also at this stage of the flight that the propelling force is applied and continued till the greatest altitude the machine is expected to reach is obtained, when again the force of gravity is depended on to carry the machine through about two-thirds of its flight through the air to its destination.

"The dominant idea is: First, to use the inclined plane both as a supportive and as a propelling agent; second, use the force of gravity as a prime propelling agent, and third, to only use an artificial propelling agent to carry the machine upward. After that the force of gravity, acting through the acquired momentum and applied according to the theory of the cycloid, will shoot the machine just like a projectile about two feet in a horizontal direction for every foot of fall.

"This action can be compared to what sailors call tacking, only instead of being in a horizontal direction, like a ship at sea, it will be more or less in a perpendicular direction. By this plan about half the propelling force will be saved, and again, when going against the wind, it will require less artificial propelling force to raise the air ship."

The Book of Life.

Every man makes the book of his life day by day as he lives, and at his death the pages are turned over by his friends, and by his record each one is judged. Each later line in the poem of life should add something to the opening lines. Each succeeding year should carry one's politics, character, creed and religion a little higher. One of the dangers to this country is the increasing tendency to devote life to pleasure seeking.

Nothing should displace laughter. It adds to life. But there is not a more pitiable spectacle than that of an adult life wasted in pleasure. Some central utility should rise in every adult life. The census takers could not tell how many people in this country are devoting themselves almost wholly to pleasure.

The rapid accumulation of wealth may have lured a million, perhaps two millions, of people from their usefulness. Next in evil to the devotion to pleasure is the struggle for notoriety. The book of life should be shown only to its writer. Certain parts of life are inexpressible, and every soul has a world of its own in which there can be no reporter's footprint. — Professor Swing
